

If the proposed action by Sinclair Broadcasting is illegal they should be enjoined from proceeding and have their licenses removed if they go ahead. If the proposed action is no illegal, the Congress has left a huge loophole that in an era of media consolidation must be closed. In either case, a strong congressional investigation is required, and the FCC must be insulated against the kind of political reward system that produces these actions.